Uncle Sam Needs Foreign Trade.

Reciprocity Conference Out for a Minimum and Maximum Tariff.

Recommends Appointment of Permanent Commission by the President.

New Organization is Formed. Gov. Cummins Hailed as a Leader.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—The reciprocity conference, called to devise means of bettering the trade relations between the United States and foreign countries finished the work today for which the meeting was called; arranged for a committee to prosecute the plans of the convention, and formed a permanent organization, styled "The American Reciprocal Tariff League."

The committee, which will consist of fifteen members, to be appointed by the chair, was given full power to organize and promote the work for which the convention assembled.

The resolutions adopted advocate the "maximum and the minimum tariff" as a means of relieving the situation with which this country is confronted, and suggests that such reciprocal concessions be arranged by a permanent tariff commission, to be created by Congress and to be appointed by the President.

The principal speaker at today's session was Gov. Cummins of Iowa, who, in a speech full of fire and eloquence, buried finance at the enemies of reciprocity.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Declaration of political war on the "stand-patters" in Congress and throughout the country was demanded by Gov. A. B. Cummins of Iowa, today, in the reciprocity convention. The comment was made in Gov. Cummins the conference had found its leader.

Chairman Packard called the reciprocity convention to order today. The first speaker was A. B. Farquhar of Pennsylvania. At the conclusion of his address, the chairman called for the report of the Committee on Resolutions, and Chairman E. N. Foss read the following resolution, which was considered at a later hour:

"The National Reciprocity Convention, representing more than two hundred agricultural, commercial and industrial associations of the United States by delegates assembled at Chicago, August 16 and 17, 1905, hereby makes the following declaration of principles:

"Whereas, the agricultural, manufacturing and other industries of this country have expanded to such an extent that they can no longer depend upon the home market for the consumption of their entire product; and whereas, the export trade has become a vital support to many of our industries; and whereas, the present commercial attitude of the United States, largely owing to our failure to carry into effect the reciprocity trade provisions of section 4 of the Dingley law, is antagonizing foreign nations, whose good-will we desire, and on whom we have hitherto depended as purchasers of our surplus products, therefore be it resolved, First, that this convention, recognizing the principle of protection as the established policy of our country, advocates reciprocal concessions by means of a dual or maximum and minimum tariff as the most adequate and practical method of relieving the strained situation with which we are now confronted; second, that the question of the schedules and items to be considered in such reciprocal concessions preferably be suggested by a permanent tariff commission to be created by Congress and appointed by the President, which shall consist of economic, industrial and commercial experts; third, that it is the sense of this convention that our present tariff affords abundant opportunity for such concessions without injury to industry, trade or the

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

NORFOLK (Va.) Aug. 17.—Between twenty and thirty negroes, occupying the first car on an Atlantic Coast line excursion train from Kinston, N. C., to this city, were killed or injured six miles from this city, shortly after noon today.

The train, consisting of the engine and six coaches, plunged through an open draw of the bridge at Bruce Station, the engine and one coach being completely submerged in about twelve feet of water and the second coach partly submerged.

It is difficult at this time to estimate the number of dead. It is believed that every person in the first car perished, none yet having been accounted for.

With the exception of the train crew and the promoters of the excursion, all aboard were colored.

The engineer, fireman and conductor escaped.

The specific orders of the road to stop all trains at the bridge, whether the draw is open or not, was apparently ignored. The train plunged into the abyss. Both engineer and fireman discovered the open draw too late to stop. The airbrakes were applied but did not work properly.

LATER. Half a hundred persons, mostly negroes, were drowned. Up to a late hour tonight only seven bodies had been recovered from the wreckage. The list of injured, so far as can be ascertained, numbers nearly one hundred, though most of these are slightly hurt. Among the victims of the only white ones were Edward Jolliffe, manager of the excursion, and Edward Forbes, who assisted him, both of Greenville, N. C.

2 a.m. Friday.—Though only ten bodies have been discovered the latest details indicate that forty is a conservative estimate of the number. It is believed that there were between thirty and thirty-five persons in the first car, not at the bottom of the river, and only five of these escaped. Others perished in the second coach.

Trial at New York Results in Wreckage—Charles Hamilton Falls, but is Unhurt.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Israel Ludlow's airship had her trial this afternoon, and she now lies a mass of wreckage beside the Hudson River Railroad tracks at Seventy-ninth street. Charles Hamilton fell with the machine 150 feet, but escaped unhurt.

The flying machine dropped down over a group of twenty small boys who were gaping at it. One of them, Edward Gleason, 10 years old, was caught under it, but was not hurt.

California Virtually Alone in the Anti-Chinese Fight Which is Brewing.

Minister Barrett Declares the "Yellow Peril" May be a "Yellow Blessing."

"Routes of Commerce Shift ing to Pacific," Asserts F. B. Thurber.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

P ORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Revise the immigration laws; let in some Chinese, keep out some others. Our exports to the Orient total $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 a month. This will rapidly increase." T. B. Wilcox, president Trans-Mississippi Congress and president of the Portland Flushing Mills.

"The routes of commerce are shifting from the Atlantic to the Pacific." F. B. Thurber, president of the United States Export Association, New York.

"There is no 'yellow peril,' it may be made a yellow blessing." John Barrett, Minister to Columbia.

"The Columbia is the natural outlet to the sea." W. C. Langford, United States engineer who had been in charge of Columbia River improvements.

The foregoing summarize the topics of the Trans-Mississippi Congress today. It looks as if a pro-Chinese resolution would go through the congress. With a few outside stragglers, California stands almost alone in its attitude against the Chinese. Little aid will be given to California in its fight against Chinese immigration, either by Oregon or Washington, and the States further east are pro-Chinese. A pro-Chinese resolution went to committee, and will come before the congress tomorrow at 9 o'clock.

A resolution was adopted today favoring New Mexico's admission to Statehood.

P ORTLAND, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From apparently good authority it is announced tonight that the California delegation to the Trans-Mississippi Congress will not oppose a pro-Chinese resolution, but will consent to a half-way measure.

P ORTLAND, Aug. 17.—That the better classes of Chinese are discriminated against to an unwarranted extent; that a less stringent administration of the exclusion law, or, if necessary, a limited reconstruction is advisable, was urged by the speakers on oriental trade at the second day's session of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress today. These ideas were brought out with especial force by Hon. John Barrett, United States Minister to Colombia, and by Theodore B. Wilcox, president of the congress.

An unfortunate incident occurred prior to adjournment for the day, which marred the success of the session. After listening to a flood of oratory that had extended over nearly four hours, barring interruptions from the Resolutions Committee, which was impatient to get started in its work, the delegates openly rebelled against further continuation of the programme, and a slight was cast upon two of the speakers, which, though unintended, nevertheless caused keen hurt. An injudicious motion was made, after G. W. Dickie of San Francisco had concluded his address, that the remaining speeches, those of P. J. Von Lobens and Benjamin C. Wright of San Francisco, be read by title, placed on the records of the congress, and copies furnished to the press. The chairman refused to entertain the motion, but the damage had been done, and both speakers, offended at the conduct of the congress, declined to speak. A motion was hurriedly made to adjourn, and the session came to an abrupt end.

ATTRACTS ATTENDANCE.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.
PORTLAND, Aug. 17.—Whether it was the array of brilliant speakers, the prediction heralded by the local press that discord was to occur over the subject of restriction of Chinese immigration, or because the keen edge of the delegates' curiosity has been dulled by a cursory examination of the Exposition, the attendance at the sessions of the Trans-Mississippi Congress today comfortably filled the commodious auditoriums at the fair grounds.

Hon. John W. Noble, first vice-president of the congress, the chairman of the day, called to order the second day's session. After a few words regarding the importance to the West, and particularly to the Pacific Coast, of the topics to be considered today, Gen. Noble said that on the subject of "The Columbia River," one of the best-posted men in the country and one who had done much for its benefit would address the congress. Gen. Noble introduced Maj. W. C. Langfit, U.S.A.

MAJ. LANGFIT'S ADDRESS.

Maj. Langfit's address was compilation of figures, showing the vast area drained by the Columbia River, and the amount of government effort expended on the deepening of it and the removal of the different obstructions.

"The natural outlet for the product of the fertile wheat lands of Eastern Oregon, Eastern Washington and Idaho," the speaker said, "is down the Columbia River to the sea, and thence to the markets of the world. Unfortunately in its natural state there existed several barriers to ordinary river navigation. These are the Cascades of the Columbia, the Dalles and Celilo, Priest Rapids and other obstructions not necessary to mention here."

PRESIDENT WILCOX.

The next speaker was Hon. Theodore B. Wilcox of Portland, president of the congress. He is credited with having built up the foreign flour trade of the Pacific Coast, and spoke on "Oriental Trade."

Mr. Wilcox's address was frequently applauded, especially his statements on the subject of admission of oriental labor.

BARRETT ON CHINESE.

John Barrett of Portland, Or., United States Minister to Colombia, who spent almost a decade in the Orient, and who, from long association, is familiar with the customs and beliefs of the higher classes of China, was the second speaker on the subject of oriental trade. He predicted that the next year will determine whether the United States loses or retains its share of the trade of China. The Chinese boycott he pronounced the culmination of years of remonstrance at what the Chinese believe is discrimination on the part of this country toward their countrymen. China is now in the process of awakening to a sense of her latent power. She is coming to a realization of the true value of her markets. China, as a government, can have no cause to feel resentment toward this government, but the people of the higher classes—and Mr. Barrett emphasized the fact that there is no greater mistake than to believe that the Chinese, as a nation, are composed exclusively of coolies—cannot understand why they should be treated differently from corresponding classes of other nations. The higher classes of China, according to the speaker, are proud of their own peculiar civilization of their philosophy and philosophies of their unrivaled antiquity as an independent nation, of their customs, characteristics, social fabric, homogeneity, vast population and great potential wealth, and that they have not taken the same advantage as has Japan in the world's political development is no sign that it does not exist.

YELLOW BLESSINGS.

Mr. Barrett deprecated the spirit of patronage, the "holier-than-thou" attitude with which foreigners are wont to treat the Chinese, instead of sympathetic cooperation. This spirit among traders, travelers, soldiers and sailors has had a cumulative influence which has added strength to such movements as the Chinese boycott. The speaker minimized the so-called "yellow peril," terming it a "boogey," and said the day will come when it may become a "yellow blessing."

In support of this assertion, he called attention to the fact that synchronously with Japan's development, she has become a greater purchasing nation. Since China has commenced to foster her own interests at the treaty ports, her trade with the United States has grown to a value of $32,000,000 per annum, triple what it was a decade ago.

"It is illogical," he said, "in view of the example of Japan, to predict that with the material, social and political awakening of China, she will become the bane of the welfare and happiness of the world at large. The cry need in the development of trade with China is the increase of her purchasing capacity. Her internal resources and the country's gridironed with railways provide the Chinese masses with money, and they will purchase correspondingly with other people."

"China's foreign trade amounts now to less than $1 per capita. Japan's to $7, although barely twenty years ago it was no more than China's. If China's trade is developed to $5 per capita, we would then have a trade of $2,000,000,000 per annum. To prepare the way for winning our share of this increase is surely worth our best efforts."

The marvelous growth of the oriental and pacific trade of this country, now amounting to $350,000,000, was pointed out, particular stress being laid upon the fact that our exports to China are double our imports and the speaker advised his hearers that harsh measures may tend to injure such a mighty traffic.

Barrett did not discuss the merits or demerits of the Chinese exclusion law. So far as the Japanese are concerned, he believes that the demand for labor in Japan, Korea, Manchuria, Shantung and Formosa, together with losses of able-bodied Japanese in battle, will follow the ending of the war, and that for years to come there will be only an inconsiderable proportion that will seek entrance into the United States.

As to the Chinese, he asserted, the number of coolies who might wish to enter our borders is controlled to a great extent by powerful guilds, which are interested in seeing that the supply of coolies in America shall not exceed the legitimate demand. Furthermore, said he, with China's increased development there will be a demand at home for laborers, and the Chinaman's known preference for his own land will help to limit emigration to this country.

HON. F. B. THURBER.

Another aspect of the Oriental subject was treated by Hon. F. B. Thurber of New York City, president of the American Stock Exchange Association, who spoke on "Future markets in the Orient." In part he said:

"To develop our great resources in fields, forests, mines, and factories, give remunerative employment to labor and capital, and prosperity to the people of the United States, we need:

"First—To foster our transportation system both on sea and land. Help it, don't cripple it.

"Second—We need to appreciate that this is the age of steam, electricity, the automobile and organization, and that the ultimate American individual controlling these forces will produce better results than officialism, socialism and communism. Yellow journalism is daily, weekly and monthly teaching the contrary. Don't shy at trusts, whether of labor or capital, represent organization. Control, but don't cripple them. We are dependent upon them for progress.

"Third—Our foreign policy should favor the 'open door,' and to get this we should make reasonable concessions on our tariff policy, through reciprocity or otherwise."

"Fourth—As a minor means to this end we should systematize our consular service on a basis of permanency, promotion and adequate compensation. We have superior talent in our consular service available, but it is dwarfed and discouraged by the lack of prime requisites.

"Fifth—Review our treaties with Oriental countries so that while protecting American labor against the 'yellow peril,' it will give both American and American capital every opportunity to expand its sphere of influence.

WASHINGTON: CANAL FUNDS RUNNING LOW.

But the Balance on Hand
Will Last This Year.

Statement is Issued by the Commissioners.

Interesting Points in Gold,
Silver and Grub.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Of the $10,000,000 appropriated by Congress for beginning work on the Panama Canal, a sufficient balance remains to carry on the work until late in December, by which time Congress will probably have taken some action providing for more funds. The Spooner Act, under which we are up to date, has been carried on, provided for expenditures of $10,000,000 in cash out of the treasury and the issuance of $35,000,000 in 2-per-cent. bonds. When Shonts was placed at the head of the Canal Commission, he appointed a committee to examine the status of the cash at the call of the commission. It was found that there was a balance of about $5,000,000. Shonts ordered that this be so divided as to run until Congress convened, and his instructions have been carried out.

Owing to much additional work and the furnishing of new machinery and material, the balance has been reduced until there is comparatively little left, but it is proposed to make this run to the time fixed. Bonds could be issued at once, but there is no desire to do this, principally because they would bring less than par, and it is desired to make them sell above par, if possible.

There is no intention on the part of Secretary Shaw, if the details of a bond issue leave him to put the entire $125,000,000 on the market in a block. The bonds will be put on the market in amounts that seem to offer the best inducement, from $10,000,000 to $25,000,000 in a lot.

CANAL COMMISSION'S STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The Canal Commission today issued the following statement:

"It was officially stated at the Isthmian Canal Commission today that of the appropriation by Congress of $10,000,000 for the construction of the canal, there was on April 1, 1900, the date of the signing of the contract, a balance left over which took hold, an available balance to the credit of this appropriation of $7,426,588. During the month of April, the expenditures from this appropriation aggregated $400,000; during May, $500,000; during June, $650,000; during July, $700,000, for wages, salaries, materials, supplies and equipment.

"During July there was an unusual expenditure for the purchase of two ships, $86,000, which were added to the estimated July expenditures. During the month of August, up to end including the 15th, $250,000 had been expended. This left to the credit of the appropriation as of August 15, $6,173,588. In addition to what each of the two disbursing officers had on hand $200,000 on that date,

"It will be seen from the foregoing that the average expenditure per month, exclusive of the cost of the purchase of the two ships, was in the neighborhood of $650,000, and at that rate of expenditure the $2,816,712 will last until early in January, which is the earliest date fixed by Mr. Shonts, on Aug. 1, when he became chairman of the commission."

GOLD, SILVER AND GRUB.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Emphatic denial is given at the office of the Canal Commission that an agreement between Secretary Taft and President Amador of the Isthmian republic as to the relations between the latter government and the Canal zone has been consummated in the proposed establishment of a "commercial" arrangement under which the employees of the Canal Commission can obtain food at cost price from the stores maintained by the United States government in the canal zone. It is admitted that this plan has been decided upon and will be put into effect immediately, but the acting chief of the Canal Commission's offices, Pepperman, explained that the agreement between Taft and Amador provided that only the "gold," or American employees of the canal zone should be supplied food from the commission's commissariat, except in cases where it was asked by local merchants should be so excessive as to practically prevent the Panamanians, or "silver," employees to keep themselves from starving.

For the time being, due to unusual conditions, the prices of commodities kept by the local merchants have soared so high that native employees cannot afford to buy them, therefore it has been decided, with the full consent of the Panama government, to furnish food to the natives at cost price, plus 10 per cent, to cover the cost of administration.

Pepperman added that no new stores would probably be established by the commission, but the stock in the present stores would be enlarged and carried on in the stores of the natives.

It was denied that the Panama Railroad has purposely held up shipments to local merchants with the object of forcing up prices, so that the natives would have to resort to the commission's stores for their food supplies. There is no object in such proceeding, said Pepperman, inasmuch as the commission does not make a cent on the supplies dispensed through its commissariat.

NETHERLANDS ENGINEER.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The Isthmian Canal Commission today received a communication from the Netherlands Charge d'Affaires stating that Prof. Jacob Kraus, who was nominated by the Dutch government to serve on the Board of Control Engineering, had been appointed in Washington September 1, has been appointed to a Cabinet office, and will be replaced on the board by John Wilhelm Welcker, who, since 1900, has had the supervision of the large Dutch rivers. He will leave for New York August 15 by the steamer Rotterdam.

REPORTS ON THE Isthmus.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

PANAMA, Aug. 17.—It is currently reported that the Isthmian Canal engineers are in the process of the finalization of the exhaustion of the Congressional appropriation, although it is officially given out that the suspension is due to the desirability of undertaking improvement of sanitary conditions in the zone. A resumption of operations is not expected until Congress meets.

PEACE.

are not bluffers," said Mr. Sato. From an authoritative source the Associated Press correspondent received a distinctly bad impression regarding the outcome. It was coupled, however, with an expression of hope that if developed that the conference was going to pieces, President Roosevelt might again step in. "We have heard that the President, having brought us together, has washed his hands of further responsibility. But he is resourceful. He might do something."

"What?" "That I cannot say."

The Japanese view was explained: "We came only asking what we wanted. Our terms were moderate. The world thinks so. It looks bad, I say so, I believe so. But the conference may yet be saved from shipwreck. M. Witte has been gracious. He has done what he can, but he has a future at home to consider."

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE.

A very important conference occurs in M. Witte's rooms shortly before midnight. There were present Baron de Rosan, the other Russian plenipotentiaries, and M. de Martens.

Gen. Yermoloff, M. Pokotilov, M. Shipoff and Capt. Boussin, the five Russian delegates.

It is the first time a full meeting of the plenipotentiaries had been held since the conference began.

WITTE YIELDS TO GAIN.

M. Witte is yielding point after point to Japan in order to strengthen his position at the end, and when he makes his final stand—if Baron Kouruma refuses to yield—he will say it was Japan's, not Russia's uncompromising attitude which caused the rupture.

The Russians claim Russia has given up every contention which lay at the root of the quarrel between the two countries: Korea goes to Japan, de facto if not de jure; Russia gets out of Manchuria, bag and baggage, surrenders all except the closing link of the main line of the railroad to Vladivostok and renounces all her privileges in the Chinese provinces.

She may even agree to the surrender of the interned ships and the limitation upon her sea power in the Far East in order that she will no longer be in a position to threaten Japan. But she still, it is claimed, has an army of half a million men in the field; and, having given all these as proofs of her desire to secure what President Roosevelt called a "just and lasting peace," she will refuse to pay "blood money," or, if Japan persists in her present attitude, to cede a foot of territory.

LONDON FAIRLY HOPEFUL.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—While pessimism reigns supreme in the reports from Peking and the editorials appearing in the newspapers, there exists in official circles in London a strong conviction that a treaty of peace will be the outcome of the conference. The Associated Press is able to state that the British government, which has been kept informed of the progress of the negotiations through Minister Hayashi, is fairly hopeful that a lasting peace will be concluded.

On the Stock Exchange, Russian and Japanese bonds continue to advance and a confident undertone characterizes stocks generally, though investors profess the belief that a failure in the negotiations at Portsmouth means a general setback in prices.

In contradiction to the persistent assertion that the British government is yielding Japan to whatever her demands, the Foreign Office informed the Associated Press today that the government was taking no part whatever in the negotiations. Advice, it was said, had not been asked of Great Britain by her ally and it was not likely to be given until requested.

MORNING SESSION.

The peace conference began at 9:30 o'clock this morning. The envoys were served breakfast at the naval-store building preceding the session.

Five articles of the possible "Treaty of Washington" remained to be considered when the plenipotentiaries resumed their session—Sakhalin, upon which it had been impossible to agree and which had been passed over; indemnity; limitation upon Russia's sea power; the surrender of the Interned warships and the grant of fishing rights on the littoral of the maritime provinces.

The final struggle is close at hand and preparations are being made for it. The Japanese are in the closest touch with their government, they are keeping Tokio advised of every development of the proceedings. It was 3 o'clock this morning when last night's stream of cables to Japan was completed.

The plenipotentiaries adjourned for luncheon at 12:30 o'clock, having spent the entire morning discussing Article IX. No agreement was reached and the commissioners temporarily laid it aside and proceeded to discuss the following article.

The official statement of the proceedings follows: "At the morning session of August 17, the plenipotentiaries discussed Article IX. Not being able to reach an unanimous decision, the conference decided to record the divergence of views and proceed to the discussion of the following article. The session, then recessed until 3 o'clock."

ABSOLUTE IMPASSE.

The morning's discussion developed an absolute impasse. Both sides were obdurate. Neither would budge or yield an inch.

Agreement being found impossible, the plenipotentiaries decided to spread upon the record their respective views and proceed to the consideration of Article X, which provides for the surrender to Japan of the Russian warships interned in Far Eastern waters.

This article was debated when recess until 2 o'clock was taken.

It can be stated with almost absolute positiveness that the two remaining articles are in the following order: Article XI, limitation of Russia's naval power in the Far East; Article XII, the grant of fishing rights in the Russian littoral from Vladivostok to Bering Sea.

The lunch hour was cut short that work of the conference might go on. Instead of reconvening at 3 o'clock, the envoys go back to the conference room shortly after 2 o'clock.

LINE OF COMPROMISE.

The natural line of compromise on the two main issues between the peace plenipotentiaries comes out more and more clearly—Russia to yield Sakhalin to the sovereignty of Japan upon Japan's pledge not to fortify the island or to use it for military or strategic purposes and to allow equal fishing and commercial opportunities to the citizens of both countries; and Japan to forego renumeration for the "cost of the war," and to take, instead, such incident monetary compensation as she will obtain from the transfer of the Liao Tung and Port Arthur leases, the Chinese Eastern Railroad and repayment for the maintenance of 100,000 Russian prisoners.

Such an arrangement regarding Sakhalin might solve the problem so far as article V is concerned. The Russians, while admitting that the island is of little value to them commercially or from a military standpoint, with Japan controlling the entrances to the Sea of Japan, nevertheless insist most strenuously that its military possession by Japan would constitute a constant threat against their maritime provinces. It is separated from the mainland only by the narrow Straits of Tartary. It could never be used by Russia for aggressive purposes, but if in unrestricted possession of Japan, she could at any time use it to concentrate an army for landing on the Asiatic Coast. In winter, the straits are frozen and an army could cross on the ice. In summer, it would be only a matter of hours in boats.

With Japan able to operate from Northern Korea by crossing Tumen River, the Russian maritime provinces and Vladivostok would be subjected to attack from two fronts.

From a military point of view, the Russians maintain that their maritime provinces would be in constant danger if Sakhalin were in the military possession of Japan, and especially so with Japan abel—as she will be henceforth—to make an attack from Korea.

WITTE YIELDS TO GAIN.

M. Witte is yielding point after point to Japan in order to strengthen his position at the end, and when he makes his final stand—if Baron Kouruma refuses to yield—he will say it was Japan's, not Russia's uncompromising attitude which caused the rupture.

CHINA NOW PARTY TO THE NEGOTIATIONS.

PORTSMOUTH (N. H.) Aug. 17.—China has at least constructively become a party to the negotiations. Article VII, relating to the transfer to China of the branch of the China Eastern Railroad running south from Harbin, which was agreed to by the peace plenipotentiaries "in principle" yesterday, involves perhaps, in the final settlement, prolonged and complicated negotiations between China and Japan and the Peking government.

China may not care to assume the financial burden involved in taking over the road. She certainly could raise the money by hypothecating the property. If Japan convinces her that the road will eventually become a paying commercial venture she might, herself, advance the money or it might be raised for China by an international syndicate and become a part of the system of Chinese imperial railroads. If not, Japan may, and probably would, for the present, step into Russia's shoes, although she has promised China to restore Manchuria and to retain the railroad would be to retain strategical control of the province.

The amount Russia will realize is impossible to estimate. It will undoubtedly be only a comparatively small fraction of the sum poured into it. By the time the Chinese get the railroad the privilege of taking over the road in the end of thirty-six years upon the repayment of capital, construction and deficit charges, Japan recognized that Russia was entitled to some remuneration. But this basis is not known. The question is whether the principles of the law of nations, of the principles of international law that better regulate occupying territories can exercise the right of usufruct of private property during occupation, but cannot confiscate as a spoil of war.

The matter remains primarily to be adjusted by Japan and China, and it is not unlikely that the Tokio government is already in communication with the Peking government on the subject.

The long dispatches sent by Baron Komura to his government on this subject after yesterday's session, twenty minutes later was presented to the Emperor and the Dowager Empress.

Count Cassini was received in audience by the Emperor at Peterhof to-day. He conferred with His Majesty twenty minutes and later was presented to the Empress and the Dowager Empress.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 17.—By imperial ukase, Vice-Admiral Kruger has been placed on the retired list. Commander Gobezitch of the battleship Polibodenostz and the commander of the transport Prout, on both of which vessels mutinies occurred, recently, have also been retired.

IMMITABILE "Bob" Burdette.

Akin readers of The Times will enjoy the quaint in writing of famous newspaper paragrapher, lecturer and preacher, N.Y. J. Burdette, on extended European tour. His letters are full of interesting incidents of daily occurrences as a result of his travels.

There is not the slightest doubt that there will be a general mutiny in the navy, the moment the government carries out the sentence of death that will be almost surely imposed on the Potemkine crew.

Delegate Shelby Smith, editor of Labor

at President Ladd and said: "You

When the vote was taken for the knowing he was better than any of gallery.

The convention decided today to meet

Delegate Smith Walks Out of the Convention.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.
TORONTO, (Ont.) Aug. 17.—Today, at the afternoon session of the International Typographical Union Convention, the eight-hour Committee presented a report, which endorses the eight-hour campaign now being waged and recommends a strike, January 1, 1906, against employers who do not accept the new hours laid down by the union.
Samuel Gompers, in his address, commended the stand the union has taken on the eight-hour fight.

SMITH WALKS OUT.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES
TORONTO, (Ont.) Aug. 17.—[Executive Dispatcher, 14th Street.]—A half dozen delegates against the executive of the International Typographical Union by Philadelphia Union No. 2,
Delegate Shelby Smith, editor of Labor
News, was today expelled from the convention by the vote of 209 to 34. The fight was bitter and the exchange of complaints between the characters that would set back the eight-hour movement two years.

So warm did Delegate Fairlie of Philadelphia become that he shook his fist
at President Ladd and said: "You have no such chance; for an eight-hour day from Boston west to Pittsburgh as a snowball has in Hades."</

Wash Goods—Today
5c Yd.

Fine, sheer Organzies and Batistes.

Between three and four thousand yards of them. Goods that have been in the house but two weeks, so you may know they are not old styles, all mussed and show worn. Fact is, they are all as new in design, in coloring and in weave as any wash goods shown anywhere today, and are worth, to women who can use wash goods at all, from 12½c to 20c a yard.

The Organzies are all in light, soft pastel colorings, both large and small designs, suitable for frocks of any style—for any occasion.

The Batistes are of three kinds—the Jasmine, the Oranande and the Willow batistes; all fine, sheer textures, with pretty trimmings in an almost endless variety. Among these are all the popular colors, dark and light, mostly in small, neat designs.

It won't do to waste any time in getting here this morning, as buying is to be spirited when such goods are going.

Kranich
BachPianos

Several generations of piano makers have brought this beautiful instrument to its present perfection of tone and artistic excellence. Every part of the Kranich & Bach is made to fit another; each is made with the idea of obtaining perfect acoustic results, and when the instrument is ready for shipment there is an absolute certainty of its lasting tonal qualities. The faithful attention to detail of construction and the fine craftsmanship displayed in its casing accounts for a good deal of its popularity, but the unexcelled tone of the Kranich & Bach is what really appeals to the musical and aesthetic tastes of the player.

tate and insurance business in Los Angeles, and later became connected with the insurance business in San Francisco. For several years he maintained a business office in the Crocker Building, San Francisco, but retained his home in Los Angeles.

For the last few years he had not engaged in active business. He had fondly enjoyed the pleasures of Catalina Island and spent much time there. He was president of the famous Tuna Club, and was also President of the Pilgrim Club of Avalon.

He was a member of Stanton Post, Grand Army of the Republic, and was a member of the Elks' Lodge at Sacramento. He also held membership in the Jonathan Club of this city and the Bohemian Club of San Francisco. He had many acquaintances in all parts of the State.

Besides the widow and two sons, he leaves a brother, Luther Barrett of Humboldt, Iowa, and three sisters, Mrs. Hiram Clough of Needie Grove, Iowa; Mrs. Mary Hale, who is residing in North Hollywood; Terriene, Canada, and Mrs. E. F. Hartwell of West Thirty-fifth street, Los Angeles.

Gen. Andrew Washington Barrett died at 12:20 o'clock yesterday noon at the Pacific Hospital, after an illness of two months.

The loveliest thing in the show was a young lady with rusty hair who sang about "Dreams." Did she mean to be personal? Did she refer to the society's share of the receipts?

Gen. Zeehandelaar of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association was not among those present.

This was the "benefit" put under the ban of the M. & M., and Miss Hale is the stylish young woman for whom contestants were sought for obtaining money by false pretenses; her methods of soliciting subscriptions were so ingenious.

The most interesting part of the performance took place in the foyer, where Miss Hale had a hot seance with the malignant directors of the Door of Hope.

They suggested that it would be a dandy time for Miss Hale to make a settlement; but Miss Hale was in an awful hurry! She wouldn't settle.

Her agreement with the society was that they should receive one-half cent of the gate receipts. She and her partner got the many hands that they could lay their hands on outside.

But there were no gate receipts. Only a sprinkling of people were in the hall and even fewer came in on the various occasions bought of Miss Hale and her partner in response to their tearful appeals for the good cause of charity.

A great pitch of excitement was raised once during the evening when Miss Hale had a hot seance with the malignant directors of the Door of Hope.

But there were no gate receipts. Only a sprinkling of people were in the hall and even fewer came in on the various occasions bought of Miss Hale and her partner in response to their tearful appeals for the good cause of charity.

A great pitch of excitement was raised once during the evening when Miss Hale had a hot seance with the malignant directors of the Door of Hope.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Council yesterday declined to submit a proposal to vote $250,000 sewer bonds for ratification by the people at the same election at which votes will be taken on the Owens River water bonds.

An ordinance adopted yesterday by the Council prohibits granting a saloon license or trade for a location within 600 feet of a school building.

Councilman Healy is the first legislator to advocate selling the present City Hall site and securing a more suitable location, there to erect a modern municipal building.

At last the suit instituted against the Bishops of California by the Aguirre family to recover a large sum of money has reached the courts. Yesterday counsel lined up to fight over technicalities, and then the case will be set for trial.

Gradually the judges of the Superior Court are dropping out for vacation, and a week hence only one emergency judge will be sitting.

Samuel Burke was fined $20 yesterday for keeping a vicious dog.

Henry Angelo, contractor, was arraigned on a charge of obstructing the street.

AT THE CIVIC HALL.

MUST WAIT FOR SEWER BONDS.

COUNCIL WILL NOT ENDANGER WATER SECURITIES.

Recommendation That Two Issues be Submitted to People at Same Election Does Not Appeal to Legislators—Votes May Come Later With Gothenburg Ordinance.

City Engineer Stafford's recommendation for the immediate issuance of $250,000 sewer bonds did not appeal favorably yesterday to the members of the Council.

Stafford asked that the bonds might be included in the securities which the voters will be called upon to ratify at the special water-bond election on September 7. But the legislators yesterday decided at a secret conference that it would be a mistake to submit to the vote of the people the same issue that might become confused with the one-project movement to secure for the city an adequate water supply.

When the Engineer's recommendation was submitted at the adjourned Council meeting, it was referred to the City Attorney. This means a sufficient delay to make it impossible to include the sewer bonds in the questions to be considered at the next special election.

Failure of certain Councilmen to submit lists of election officers yesterday occasioned a delay of four days in the adoption of the ordinance calling for the bond election on the Owens River project.

In order that there may be no question of the validity of the voter bonds, the Council has decided to call the election both by resolution and by ordinance. The resolution was adopted last Monday. It was expected that the ordinance would be ready for adoption yesterday. City Clerk Leland announced, however, that four Councilmen had neglected to submit names of election officers, and it was agreed to delay the ordinance until Monday. If the names of the referees at the polling places are not submitted by that date the Clerk will supply the missing ones.

There is an almost unanimous feeling in the Council that the city should vote the sewer bonds asked for by the City Engineer, or at least a portion of them. As soon as the ordinance is passed holding a sewer-bond election, the Council will probably call an election for that purpose about the middle of October.

Proponents of the Gothenburg plan for regulating the sale of liquor at retail are now working on a form of ordinance which will make it possible for the city to adopt their reform plan. This ordinance may be ready for submission to the people at the time the sewer-bond election is called.

MUST KEEP AWAY.
NO SALOONS NEAR SCHOOLS.

The Council yesterday passed an ordinance forbidding the sale of liquor in connection with the issuance of licenses for saloon traffic near public schools. The new ordinance provides that no saloon license shall be issued nor transfers permitted to a location within 600 feet of a school building.

This ordinance was adopted to block the removal of a saloon from the Seventh Ward to a location in the Eighth Ward, less than a block from a school building. While it is not thought probable that the Police Commission would grant the permit, Mr. Healy suggested that best to be on the safe side by securing the passage of an ordinance prohibiting the location of a saloon in the same block as a school building.

Would Sell City Hall.
Councilman Healy of the Eighth Ward yesterday started a movement in Councilmanic circles for a change in location of the municipal building. Mr. Healy would like to see the City Hall located either in the Eighth Ward or on the borders.

Yesterday morning he prepared a motion instructing the City Clerk to advertise for bids for the present site on South Broadway. His conferees suggested that the motion be not put until the Councilmen now out of the city return from their summer vacations. So did Mr. Healy advise.

"I do not know that we are ready to sell the present site of the City Hall right now," said Mr. Healy after the session, "but I do know that the principal building is entirely inadequate for a city of 200,000 people. My object in preparing the motion was to insert an advertisement in the official paper and get bids, in order that we might form some idea of the cost of the present grounds and buildings. Or later we must have a new City Hall. Why not begin to look around now?"

Eight-hour Law.
The Council yesterday instructed the Street Superintendent to have a law placed in the Freeman Act, authorizing the eight-hour day as embodied in a State statute regulating the employment of laborers on public works.

May Visit Owens River.
Councilman Healy of the Eighth Ward contented taking a trip to the Owens River to inspect the source of the city's proposed water supply. They will leave before Tuesday, as their votes will be needed next Monday to secure the adoption of the final ordinance calling the water-bond election. Ex-Mayor Fred Eaton probably will accompany him.

ROMAN BISHOPS CALLED SCAMPS.

BITTER AGUIRRE BATTLE OPENS IN SUPERIOR COURT.

Attorney for Spanish Claimants to Pious Fund Minces No Words in Arising Catholic Prelates—Says Defendants Would Plead Statute of Limitations in Heaven.

The unusual and somewhat celebrated suit against certain prelates of the Holy Roman Catholic Church in this State, in which four members of the Aguirre family are suing his grace, Archbishop Patrick W. Riordan of San Francisco, Bishop T. Grace of the Diocese of Sacramento, and Bishop Thomas J. Conaty of the diocese of Monterey and Los Angeles, as corporations sole, for the recovery of monies which, with accrued interest, will approximate about $60,000, made its first appearance in court yesterday.

In outline the full details of this story of Mission days have already been published in The Times, and yesterday the fight in Judge Bordwell's court was merely the preliminary skirmish to the main battle at the trial. The case was in court on the motion of the plaintiffs to strike out certain allegations in the complaint, and also on argument on a demurrer.

Garrett W. McEnery of San Francisco acted as attorney for the California bishops of the Roman Catholic Church before the Court of Arbitration at The Hague, appeared as leading counsel for the defendants, and J. Wiseman MacDonald of Los Angeles appeared as special counsel for Bishop Conaty. For the plaintiffs, H. T. Gage and W. Foley appeared, and J. F. Connor represented Michael Foye as co-complainant. The litigation consumed the entire day in legal sparring, and this afternoon their arguments are expected to close.

SUPERIOR STICK WORK.
OAKLAND EASILY WINS.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—Oakland superiority stick won and costly one by Tacoma, easily won today's race at Oakland by a score of 7 to 2. Tacoma was batted freely, and Tacoma's poor field work made nearly as good for a tally. Hogan had a good game. Only once did Eddie Hanlon hit on him, which cost one run.

El Tovar, the Magnificent New Santa Fe Hotel on Brink of Grand Canyon.

The Grand Canyon business of the Santa Fé this season has far surpassed that of any previous years, and the passenger department of the road is ascribing much of this popularity to their recently completed magnificent hotel, El Tovar.

Formerly, while travelers found the scenery of the canyon stupendously grand, they experienced considerable difficulty in making the beauties of nature suffice for the satisfaction of nature suffice for the satisfaction of their physical wants and accustomed comforts.

El Tovar is a product of the canyon, a pile of native pine logs, and a mass of limestone roughly quarried from the surrounding hills. Its primitive design and construction has been hewn by skilled hands into a thing of architectural beauty, the like of which, it was said, did not exist in the West. It is a magnificient log cabin which would make the habitations of the early settlers gape at the idea that rustic simplicity could be made so aristocratically luxurious, for its 125 rooms cost the modest sum of $125,000, or $1,000 a room.

Raised upon the very brink of the dizzy gulf of the gorge, the view afforded the guests from its windows and balconies is something to live long unfeasted in the memory.

One may tip the butt of his cigar from his chair, the veranda of the hotel down through space for a distance of more than 7000 feet, for considerately more than a mile.

He requires a field glass to see the ground below from his bed-chamber window. He cannot afford to be a somnambulist unless he carries a parachute strapped under his arms.

Living in El Tovar is like enjoying the sensation of occupying a room in the top floor of a hotel more than 400 stories high, or in the pinnacle of seven Elfin towers piled one on top of the other, but fortunately without the inconvenience of having to send to China for a bell boy every time one rings for ice water.

Harvey runs the dining-room, also, so that the Grand Canyon is no longer a place to be shunned by the epicure. He may treat himself to a visit to the workshops where God is said to have worked the earth and left the tools and raw material lying about afterward, and he may tickle his palate and rest his bones at the same time, for El Tovar bridges the canyon between the comforts of civilization man and the habitat of the aborigine.

MABLE SOULE continues to rule the scholarship contest, but by a margin of only 947 votes, less than one new yearly subscription. A fierce duel is on between her and Arthur Carpenter. "The Little Giant of Compton" who is eager to recover the position which he once held as the leader of the contest.

BOY OR GIRL?

These seem to be a division among patrons of The Times as to whether a boy or a girl should finish the contest with first honors. Nearly always it has been a girl. So some people say it is time for the boys to be represented. Boys have the same chance to hustle, scheme and mix with possible subscribers that girls have. Nothing is left for The Times but to count the points that come in, according to the rules of the contest, whether the same are gathered by girls or boys, or by the numerous friends of either.

A PRAISEWORTHY REPORT.

Gari Ewing, the Hollywood favorite, has made a notable record and is reporting 13,66 points, which advances her from the twelfth to the eighth position.

Anna McNaughton, the Scotch lassie of Pomona, has come to Los Angeles yesterday, and brought with her an offering of 1342 subscription merits. Later in the day she took the train to round up her numerous friends in a dozen towns in Southern California. She is in this scholarship contest in order to cultivate her voice.

Louis McNaughton makes a creditable report, turning in 3000 coupons and 655 subscription points. When she sits out on her wheel in the morning she does not call the day finished until she has gathered more than 1000 points.

Other contestants who added more than 1000 points to their scores are as follows: Arthur Carpenter, 2006; Rex Gill, 2975; Mable Soule, 2794; Vivian Bassett, 2775; Bertha Fessenden, 1872; Bruce Moore, 1832; Iva Engel, 1589; Myrtle Graham, 1248; Eddie Schrock, 1225; Gesiena Brunes, 1170; Orestes Orfilla, 1100; Jessie Mae King, 1099.

CHANGES OF POSITION.

The fifteen changes in relative positions as occasioned by yesterday's reports are indicated by the following:

Earle V. Weller, 8 to 9; Audrey Newton, 9 to 10; Minnie Poncel, 10 to 11; Myrtle Graham, 11 to 12; F. Gari Ewing, 12 to 8; Albert Capron, 16 to 17; Jessie Mae King, 17 to 16; Gesiena Orfilla, 19 to 21; Anna McNaughton, 20 to 19; Louise Scherer, 21 to 28; John A. Wharton, 28 to 29; Eddie Schrock, 29 to 28; Myrtle McFarger, 52 to 53; Harold McIntosh, 53 to 54; Mary Lallich, 54 to 52.

STORM OF COUPONS.

The United States mail bags that come to The Times office are cornucopias of coupons. This week the value slips are pouring into the scholarship department in full measure and running over. Patrons of The Times in all parts of the United States and far beyond the borders of this country are using the coupons in great numbers to express their preferences for favorites. It looks as though the postal service is anxious to stamp determinately. The offices might be fairly pretty well, as thousands of postage stamps are consumed in this enterprise. Uncle Sam must be pleased with the way she does not call the day finished until she has gathered more than 1000 points.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

THE date of another prominent wedding to come is now made public for the first time, that of Miss Isabel Works, daughter of Judge and Mrs. John D. Works of No. 190 South Union avenue, to Richard H. Burritt of Waterbury, Ct., the wedding to be solemnized in the evening of September 26 at the bride's home.

Miss Works has selected as her maid of honor, Miss Agnes Bethune, and the two bridesmaids will be Misses Dalmazzo and Josephine Young. The latter is a house guest of Miss Works and will share with her the round of gaiety that has been planned for this popular girl.

Saturday afternoon Misses Bethune and Dalmazzo will give a theater party at the Belasco, in honor of the bride-to-be, and, after witnessing the performance of "Butterflies," the six girls will have a dainty cafe luncheon at Christopher's, with wedding bells and orange blossoms and all sorts of bridal effects adorning the festal board. The party will be concluded with a dance, with Misses Bethune and Josephine Young, Constance Bilt and Franklin Taylor.

Next week Mrs. Louis R. Works of Orchard avenue will give an elegantly-appointed luncheon for her sister, on many other society favorites, several of whom will tour down in autos.

For Miss Brooks.

Miss Blanche Brooks, the beautiful girl from San Francisco, who has received so much attention during her short stay in the city, was entertained yesterday at luncheon by Mrs. Charles C. Reynolds of No. 1221 Waterhouse avenue. It was a carnation luncheon, the decorations were in bright red carnations and the place cards were ornamented with the same bright-red blossoms. Covers were laid for Miss Brooks, Mrs. William Calderwood, Mr. Elmer Barber, Miss Laura Kellogg and Miss Will Lyon. A bizarre and fascinating post-prandial entertainment was afforded by a patient who thrilled her auditors with the secrets he revealed.

BROOK FOR THE VILLAGE, RIVERS FOR THE CITY.

Striking Comparison of the Present Water Supply of the City With the Liquid Wealth Laid at Her Feet. If Los Angeles Does Not Get Owens River Now She Never Will Need It.

BY THE SPECIAL COMMISSIONER OF THE TIMES.]

II.

A few years ago I was in Cottonwood Creek, where Los Angeles know that the present water supply is barely sufficient for normal conditions which feed it at almost a mile away and evaporation is great under the midsummer sun, yet there was more water in Cottonwood Creek than in the Los Angeles River is pouring into the city's mains at the diversion point shown in the photograph. At some stages, Cottonwood Creek alone con-

The gorge is dammed by several transverse dykes or walls of rock, and behind each upheaved rampart is a deep bowl forming the bed of a lake. The two lower lakes are of considerable size and from them flows a stream which reaches on the main and at last loses itself in one of the big desert depressions filled with the concentrations of soluble mineral salts produced by hundreds of centuries of evaporation.

The latter course described is typical of the eastern Sierra streams which drain into Mono and Owens valleys. There are dozens of such gorges pouring their wealth of mountain water into Owens River, and some of the streams carry more water than would be required for domestic uses by the people of a city double the size of Los Angeles.

STORING THE WATER.

There is a reservoir site available to the city of Los Angeles, capable of storing more than fourteen billion gallons of water, and there is water enough coming down from the Sierra Nevadas into Owens Valley to fill it.

ONLY A LITTLE BROOK.
The figure, however, present no real hazard to one not accustomed to the flow of streams. The

Los Angeles River diversion point
Combs the total flow.

That quantity of water would cover to a depth of one foot, seventy-five square miles of land. It would flood the entire area of Los Angeles city to a depth of twenty inches. With such a reserve store of water, allowing for a greater evaporation peculiar to the region east of the Sierras, a steady flow of ten times the present supply of the city could be maintained in the conduit bringing the water along the slopes and through the mountains to San Fernando Valley, which is a perfect natural reservoir and filtration bed.

HOW THE WATER WILL COME.

The engineers of this great project propose to turn the mountain streams owned entirely by the city directly into the conduit, and to impound the waters of Owens River in reservoirs to permit them to drop all sediment before passing them into the conduit. The conduit will follow the contour of the hills, pierce the mountains between Jawbone Cañon and Mojave, wind around Antelope Valley to the south, go through the mountains, tunnel near Acton, and pour its flood into one of the cañons debouching into San Fernando Valley.

NATURAL FILTRATION BEDS.

The San Fernando gravel washes constitute a perfect natural filtration bed, and in them the water will be purified almost absolutely. It is estimated that water sinking into the Tehunga wash will require from three to five years to find its way underground into the channel of the Los Angeles River or the pipes laid to catch the subterranean flow. As the life of disease germs in water is limited to a few days, it will be perfectly safe to pour diluted lymphoid itself into the Tehunga wash. Even if the waters of Owens River were laden with impurities, they would arrive at the headworks as clear and sweet as when they began their journey from the snow fields on the top of Mount Whitney.

SAN FERNANDO'S FUTURE.

Because it is the purpose to make a subsurface reservoir of the San Fernando Valley, the city must force to determine the question of the right of landowners in the valley to pump from the underground flow for irrigation. Having settled that question and safeguarded the city's supply, it will be a simple matter to construct irrigating conduits from the point of delivery in the cañon and furnish to the farmers abundant water for their lands. There will be plenty of water for all purposes when the river flows down to San Fernando.

A CASE OF NOW OR NEVER.

Los Angeles has arrived very close to the limit of her growth fixed by the supply of water obtainable this side of the mountains. What the consequences of a series of drouths or failure of the Los Angeles rivulet solutely affirms his belief that the Territorial Board has ample power in the premises and it is understood that the board will proceed tomorrow with its task of adding at least 25 per cent. to the Territory's present assessed valuation of about $60,000,000.

One of the side issues of the session yesterday was an application for the lowering of the assessment of the United Verde and Pacific railroad from $100,000,000 to $80,000,000. The Clark road to Jerome. The board questioned closely but could gain no information concerning the costs and profits of the

that have been general in Southern Arizona, during the past ten days. Near Nogales, a bolt of lightning killed Mrs. Dolores Barragan, as she was standing in a doorway, visiting and eating slices of melon. The same stroke affected a number of persons near by, but did them no serious injury. At Douglas, the new Christian Church, erected at a cost of $30,000, was struck by lightning and exploded, killing the pastor. Buildings were wrecked at Maricopa, and damage was done to lightly-built structures in all the border towns. In Tucson, trees were uprooted by the score, the damage being most severe in the city. The railroad tracks were experienced the most violent sand storm known for years, the city being hidden in dust that filled every crevice. Much damage was done to electric wires and telephones. In Northern Sonora, a passenger train from the Tijuana mine was overtaken by a cloudburst, that caught the stagecoach. The passengers escaped, but had to swim for their lives, where only a few minutes before had been a dry sand bed.

NEWS MAVERICKS.

Afia Samon, the Syrian girl accused of complicity in the murder of her father, attempted suicide in the County Jail by strangling herself with a tightly-drawn handkerchief. Only the accidental arrival of a jailer prevented success.

Announcement has been made that the Santa Fe company has secured a right of way practically all the distance up the San Pedro from the present terminus of the Phoenix and Eastern, at Winkelman, to Benson, where the line will connect with the El Paso and Southwestern system. Work has begun upon a steel bridge across the Gila above Winkelman.

It is understood that the Gila Valley, Globe and Northern road, in conjunction with the Southern Pacific, has made such a low rate upon freight for the Tonto Basin dam that it will secure most of the freight hauled over the new road from Mesa to Roosevelt. The haul from Globe is much shorter and over good roads.

The Southern Pacific company is said to be preparing to spend $50,000 on new station buildings at Maricopa. A leaky oil tank car proved a blessing to Yuma a few days ago. As the oil gushed out, it was welcomed by townspople with shovels and was so spread to oil a considerable stretch of one of the main streets of the village.

Fish are reported so plentiful at Yuma that they are spread over the fields at every irrigation, bringing fertility to the land but evil odors upon the breezes. Catfish are especially abundant, though there are great numbers of salmon, carp and "Verde trout."

"Mystic Order of Broncho Busters" has been peculiarly Tucson institution heretofore. Numerous advantages of the order are extended. "Big Round-Up, No. 2," was instituted at that camp last night by representatives from this city.

Rather sudden surprise Rynning has started upon a horseback team in the eastern Territory. He will be gone more than a month, in which time he expects to cover 1500 miles. Charges of fraud have been made in connection with the International Sanitarium Association, a Nogales concern. Application for a receiver for the association has been made in the District Court.

Six dollars a day is the wage offered to the men who will work above the new Laguna dam, work above Yuma for new takers. A regular stage line has been established between Yuma and the damsite, along the California bank of the river.

UNBRANDED ITEMS.

Merchants and shippers of Phoenix have begun an organized inquiry into the value of the copper and zinc in the mines of Arizona. It is believed that the mines of Arizona are to be taxed on the same basis as other realty of like value if the plan of the Territorial Board of Equalization, which has been in session in Phoenix for two days. A fair specimen of mine assessments in Arizona is that of the United Verde at Jerome, a property that has paid up to $6,000,000 a year in dividends, after the subtraction of immense expense and development charges, yet has paid taxes on only $500,000 assessment. This year the assessment is $550,000.

Sam Patten, attorney for the Attorneys General, has appeared before the Board of Equalization asking that the United Verde be raised to an equitable figure, suggesting $5,600,000, though the property is paying high interest on an investment of $100,000,000. Attorney-General Clark also addressed the board in favor of a generally higher assessment of the dividend-paying mines of the Territory. County Assessor Birdno of Graham county, who was "turned down" by the Board of Equalization in its rates of the assessments of the Arizona Copper and Detroit Mica companies, presented a basis of data showing that the properties were worth very much more than the amount of taxes paid.

At the present time all the mines, with their reduction plants and improvements, pay taxes on less than $5,600,000. Of the the Copper Queen and Douglass mines, the value is nearly $2,600,000. The inequality of the assessment is plain, yet has been uniformly maintained by the boards of supervisors of the mining counties in accordance with the practice of the miners. Thus comes the curious spectacle of the Territorial Board of Equalization trying to increase the taxable wealth of the counties against the will of the miners.

At least four of the members of the Territorial Board appear determined to lift the assessments to a figure that will more nearly represent true value. That is the case with Douglass and their influence on the Council has caused passed an ordinance providing that no paper, cloth or canvas be permitted as covering for any structure within the city limits. This action will throw the miners away from the residential sections.

Walter Kibbey, son of Gov. J. H. Kibbey, has resigned as deputy clerk of the District Court in Maricopa county, and will associate himself in Prescott, in the practice of law with Atty.-Gen. E. S. Clark.

DECISION AT LAST IN SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY CASE.

Jesus Buiterez Breaks His Parole and Now Has a Ten-year Prison Sentence Staring Him in the Face. Poker Outfit Raided in Hotel at an Early Hour in the Morning.

SAN BERNARDINO. Aug. 17.—Word has been received here that the Supreme Court has reversed the decision of the local Superior Court in the case of J. J. Mabb against Lyman Stewart of Pasadena. This is the second time that the judgment of the lower court has been reversed in this suit, which, owing to the bitterness which was injected into the proceedings, has become celebrated in this country.

Mabb, a prosperous orange grower of Ontario, had no interest in the case except as husband of the co-plaintiff. It is an action to recover damages. The plaintiff was the owner of an eight-acre orange grove at Ontario and ten shares of water stock in the San Antonio Water Company. Stewart held a mortgage on the land and the stock, to secure a loan of $2500.

Though the stock stood in Stewart's name, the right to the water controlled by the stock was vested in Mrs. Mabb. The expenses of the company were raised by means of assessments on the stock, and under agreement Mrs. Mabb was to pay these assessments when she refused to do so.

Stewart paid the assessments, and requested Mrs. Mabb to reimburse him, which she declined to do, claiming that as he was owner of the stock it was his duty to keep the assessments paid. Accepting this declaration as a discharge of his obligation, Stewart sold as the stock. Stewart directed the company to withhold the water from the groves until the assessments were paid.

During the month of August, 1898, the plaintiff, deprived of his inheritance for her sake, and she instituted this action against Stewart for damages, judgment being awarded by the court. An appeal was taken, and the judgment was set aside. The second trial resulted in judgment for the plaintiff in the sum of $2757, a material increase over the judgment given in the first trial. The defendant appealed, and news has just been received of a reversal.

Mrs. Mabb claimed that she had no knowledge of Stewart's conduct, and had no means of knowing whether the water had been withheld from her, and had believed that it was on account of Stewart's malice, arising from some difficulty over church matters. The evidence showed that J. S. Torrence, an agent of Stewart, had repeatedly warned her to pay the assessments, which amounted to but $70.

The Supreme Court does not mind words in dealing with the matter. The court, in reversing the case, holds that Mrs. Mabb's actions throughout are inexcusable, and should suffice to evade her just obligations. It is held that she failed altogether to make any inquiry as to the reason the water was withheld, willfully preferring to remain in ignorance and suffer the consequences than to do her reasonable duty in meeting her obligations. The court further holds that there was nothing more blameworthy in Stewart's conduct than that he was endeavoring by unwarranted means to enforce a just payment.

BROKEN PAROLE—PRISON.

Jesus Buiterez was brought from Redlands this morning to be held pending his commitment to San Quentin by Judge B. F. Bledsoe, to serve ten years for robbery. Eight months ago Buiterez had been out on probation. Attorney F. C. Prescott being his probating officer. Last night he violated the probation rules by becoming intoxicated, and now the prison stands him in the face of the law.

Attorney Prescott made a strong plea for him. The Dist. Atty. Sprague acquiesced in having the youth released on probation, after Judge Bledsoe had sentenced him to ten years in San Quentin.

The regulations under which he was placed require that he should abstain from the use of intoxicants; should not enter a saloon, should avoid the company of questionable characters, should reside in this county during all the period of his probation of ten years, and should avoid violating the laws of the State.

RAID—POKER OUTFIT.

Policeman Bob Emerson and Jack Kettig of the downtown squad, at 2 o'clock this morning paid an unexpected visit to room 19 of the Stewart Hotel, where they surprised six convivial spirits engaged in a game of poker. Each of them lost $1000. On his arrival in town the Recorder's court. The officers claim that the men are strangers, all being "traveling men." Only recently the same officers raided the place, finding a number of local men at the prohibited game.

THAT SCRATCH NOT TO BE.

"Only a scratch of the pen from you, and I'll be free," writes Forger A. R. White from the confinement imposed by the District Attorney. White is an old man, who has a record as crooked as the Los Angeles River, and longer than the Angel City's future water ditch to Owens Valley. He lit up two checks at Redlands eighteen months ago, and captured by Sheriff Shadaker, he was sent to the North. Upon going to his age and because he pleaded guilty, he was tried on only one charge, and left off with eighteen months. Afterward the other was let go, but he is wanted for a raid and other crimes. The District Attorney will not scratch a pen in his favor. White forced the signatures of men who had befriended him.

SAN BERNARDINO JOTS.

The Board of Water Commissioners announced today that they have decided to have all house connections with the water system done by a plumbing department controlled by the city, instead of compelling the consumer to employ a private plumber, who for a small amount of work has invariably taxed the property holder $10. Under the innovation to be adopted by the commission, this work will cost from $25 to $30.

There is to be a lively game of baseball here Saturday afternoon, between a team from the Elks of Redlands and a team from the local Elks, the occasion being a return game. The local Elks defeated the Redlands team.

Daggett, the desert town that went "dry," still is not "wet," according to reports that are coming from persons there in a position to know. Blind pigs are squealing in every direction and a familiar brand of whisky is still here in certain cases.

Frank Vass, 21, was arrested Saturday night by the Sheriff at Daggett, charged with selling liquor without a license, pleaded guilty yesterday, and was fined $50 by Justice of the Peace L. Thomas.

Dr. M. P. Parker, 21, just returned from the Colorado and reports that the inland sea has reached to within a few yards of the postoffice at Salton. Much of the old roadbed between Monuments and Salton is under water. The Southern Pacific track men at Salton have fixed a bridge across their houses, and further east, the water is lapping over the rails. At various points west of Salton the water reaches fully a quarter of a mile north of the roadbed.

WATER AND LIGHT PLANT OF HUNTINGTON BEACH.

Town of Seven Hundred Souls to Have System to Supply Ten Thousand People—Engines to Operate Pumps During Day and Furnish Energy for Illumination by Night.

HUNTINGTON BEACH. Aug. 17.—The Huntington Beach Company has placed two contracts, which will equip this town of 700 population with electric lights and water supply for 10,000 people. Both water and lights are furnished at rates proportioned to returns from the system. The same rate for electricity will obtain that applies to all the high efficiency central power plants in Los Angeles.

The company is to install ready for operation within thirty days two sixty-horsepower engines, each one-half drive two general electric three-phase alternating current generators.

The construction will be such that the engines may be thrown on the pumps, which are of the high efficiency centrifugal type.

The plan of operation is to pump water during the day, the excess of water going into the large reservoir, the location of which is already selected at a point that will give good storage to every part of the town.

Brakeman H. J. Wall of the work train had a narrow escape from death. He was standing on top of the caboose, when the train ran into the freight, also southbound, caught him with it from the rear and crashed into the fragile caboose and flat cars. This was the one generally accepted theory, though railroaders held to the fact that there is a report that the work train was bucking up the long canyon road, and that the freight southbound, coming in the opposite direction, met him as both were making the round of Horseshoe Bend.

Instructions are issued to all trains to run slowly at the point where the accident occurred, and it is due to this that the engineer was not more appalled than it was.
